WRONG KIND OF 'POOF'!

Fire Marshal Edwin A. Bigbee cites the dangers of using flamable liquids as cleaning agents following serious burns suffered by a Cameronite and his 14-month-old daughter.

Basilio Salazar, 29, and his infant daughter of 1012 South College Ave., are recovering from burns after treatment in emergency first aid here and at Scott and White Hospital in Temple.

About 9 p.m., Salazar took an open plastic bucket containing cleaning fluid into the bathroom to clean up his hands.

Elisabet, the 14-month-old daughter, was also in the bathroom watching.

The flash fire was extinguished with only minor damage to the house. A Cameron Fire Dept. truck and firemen were there in minutes to contain the fire.

Meanwhile, Salazar and his daughter were rushed to St Edward for first aid and transferred to the Temple hospital about 10 p.m. for further treatment.

Cause of the vapor flash apparently was the gas burner or pilot light of a bathroom water heater.

Bigbee termed the burns serious.

He cites the incident as an avoidable way to use flammable or combustible liquids, gases, greases, or similar materials with a "low" flash or ignition temperature point.

Perhaps the worst example of not staying clear of flames was the death here of an elderly woman a decade or so ago when the robe of synthetic material she was wearing caught fire at a fireplace in her home. She was unaware of the flamability of the robes.

The woman was enveloped in flames. Firemen were unable to save her. And extensive damage resulted to part of the house.

Still another fire in the past 10 years was caused by a gas leak in a residence, resulting in an explosion that decimated a house and killed one person.

Fumes and fire don't mix. It is amazing more people aren't injured.

Modern movies dramatize how gas and flames explode. In fact, it is routine now that the chase of a police car after the "bad guy" ends in some kind of collision, the car going off a cliff, hitting another vehicle, or bullets riddling the gas tank, and. . .

BA-ROOMMMMMMMMM!

In the movie nobody cares if the "bad guy" burns. It's part of the plot. Viewers seem to require a blast at the end.

In real life, somebody usually cares.

Booster Club Sets Ice Cream Fete

The annual Booster Club ice cream supper honoring 1976 Yoe High football players will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, August 5. Due to conflicting activities, the location of the supper has been changed from the Methodist Fellowship Hall to the Homemaking Building.

Coach Ed Cauley will introduce his staff and will give an outlook on the upcoming season.

5 Citizens Attend Fire Schooling

John A. Schmidt, John David Thompson, Robert Grimes, John W. Hariston, all members of the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department, and Ed A. Bigbee, City fire marshall, were enrolled among the more than 2,000 firemen from every city in the state present at the 47th annual fire training school held on the Texas A&M University campus, July 25-30.

This training, under the sponsorship of the Texas Firemen's and Fire Marshall's Association, should help in the prevention of fires, as well as faster suppression of any type fires.

The local fire department earnestly solicits the help of all citizens of Cameron in eliminating every common fire hazard in the city limits by the removal of all debris, trash, junk, high weeds and grass, junk vehicles, improperly installed portable butane bottles, etc.

Every member of the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department under the supervision of Felix Matula, fire chief and the city fire marshall's department, are going to participate in an all-out systematic survey of all properties, business and residential, in the city of Cameron so that any potential fire hazard may be spotted and reported to the proper department of the city in order for the necessary action to be taken.

Any manager of any business operation or home owner may call the fire department at 697-2121 and request a survey by competent firemen to assist in pointing out all potential fire hazards so that they may be corrected.

Ambulance Service Elects Temporary Officers

The Cameron Volunteer Ambulance service met August 1 at the Cameron Chamber of Commerce offices and elected temporary organizational officers. Those elected were Monroe Fuchs, president; Charles Strode, vice-president and treasurer; and Kay Glaser, secretary.

Pam Browder read the proposed constitution and by-laws for the organization and it was suggested that the members vote on the constitution at a September meeting.

A representative of Plectron Radio Receivers gave a discussion and demonstration of the monitors that would be used by the volunteers.

Anyone interested in participating in the Volunteer Ambulance Service is asked to contact Monroe Fuchs for an application. The Emergency Care Attendant classes will begin August 9 at the Yoe High Homemaking Building.

City Studies Cost Of Annexation Survey

City Council Tuesday tabled action on alloting an additional $3,307 for surveying three annexation areas of 380 acres into the City of Cameron.

An actual cost of $5,799 was quoted by engineer Clifford Cason. Earlier a quotation of $2,500 to do the job had been made.

The annexation areas are adjacent to the northwest, northeast, and southeast segments of the City.

Council also heard a report on the repair of a fogging machine at about $900 and voted to dispose of an old fogging machine.

In other action, the Council:

--Approved first reading of the volunteer ambulance service ordinance. Councilman Lincoln Mondrik abstained.

--Suggested through Mayor Lawrence Zotz that J. D. Jeffery draw up a proposal for improvements possible in any leasing of the Cameron Airpark.

--Voted to write a letter of appreciation to Claude Burgess, Cameron fire truck driver, who is retiring.

--Discussed a place to put junk automobiles.

--Tabled action on an objection to moving in a trailer belonging to Edward Whitley.

--Voted to purchase 2 new maintainer tires.

--Heard Councilman Mondrik report he is making house-to-house calls in spare time to urge dog owners to have pets vaccinated during the campaign which Monday saw 53 dogs tagged and innoculated for rabies.

--Listened to a recommendation from Walter Wallace, city works superintendent, that a deputy fire marshal be appointed to aid inspection of businesses.

Milam Sharing In HEW Grant For Runaways

Milam is one of six counties which will share in a $70,193 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to begin a shelter care and counseling program for runaway youths.

The program, designated "Project Option: Runaway Youth," will be administered from Central Texas Youth Services Bureau offices in Temple, Killeen and Gatesville, according to Steve Wicks of Belton, executive director, who announced the grant.

Wicks said there is a definite need for the program in the Central Texas region. He said Central Texas Council of Governments figures indicated 609 runaways were reported in the region in 1974.

Wicks said the emphasis of Project Option would be on re-uniting runaways with their families. If that is not possible, he said, arrangements will be made to provide residential care for each child. Group residential facilities will handle the runaways and not private homes.

Shelter, transportation, medical and psychiatric services will be contracted, Wicks said.

Wicks said the program is set up to provide services for approximately 150 youngsters.

100's View Jail Before Rennovation

Visitors viewed the old Milam County jail Sunday, August 1. The jail was open to the public before repairs are started. Approximately 500 attended the opening and viewed the living quarters downstairs and the prisioner facilities, according to Miss Mary Belle Batte, president of the Milam County Historical Committee.

An appeal for donations of display cases is being made to hold artifacts and antiques for the museum.

Persons desiring to make donations of this type may contact Miss Batte or Miss Ada Margaret Smith, exhibit committee chairmen.

MUSEUM FUNDS--The Cameron History Club donates a check for $1,330.48 to county museum finance officer O. B. Harden, for the museum fund. The money represents profits made from the arts and crafts show held during October in the city park. Shown with Harden are Mrs. Richard Bush, president of the history club, and Mrs. Gene Smitherman, Cameron Chamber manager, representing the Cameron Chamber Women's committee.

Two Cameronites were reported in stable condition Wednesday, Aug. 4, after suffering serious burns received recently from a vapor flash given off by a flammable liquid, apparently ignited from a gas burner or pilot light of a water heater.

Basilio Salazar, 29, an employee of the Ideal Hatchery, was listed in critical but stable condition in the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston while his 14-month-old daughter, Elisabet, was listed in stable condition after undergoing surgery Tuesday night at the Shriner Burn Center in Galveston.

It was reported that Salazar carried on open plastic bucket containing cleaning fluid into the bathroom to clean his hands after working on his car when the liquid flashed, setting his hands, arms, and clothing on fire. His daughter was in the bathroom watching.

They were taken to St. Edward Hospital, given emergency first aid, then transferred by Marek-Burns-Laywell ambulance to Scott and White Hospital about 10 p.m.

The fire was extinguished with only minor damage to the residence.

Sucide Ruled In Gunshot Death Of Cameronite

A Cameron man was discovered dead in his pickup near the river bridge on Farm road 486 near the Oak Club at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Justice of the Peace Jess Brock, ruled Kenneth Martin Jr., 30, of 602 Kemp, dead by self-inflicted gun shot wound. He reported the man was shot through the right temple with a .32 caliber pistol.

The pickup had been observed by the Oak Club since 9 a.m. Tuesday morning.

At press time Wednesday funeral was pending at the Marek-Burns-Laywell Funeral Home.

CFD Holds Fire To Storage Area

The Cameron Volunteer Fire Department answered a two-alarm fire about 6:24 p.m. Tuesday evening at the B. L. Franke residence in Salem community.

Edwin A. Bigbee, fire marshal, reported that the fire started from an electrical short and was confined to a storage area near the carport of the home. Fire damage was reported to the storage area and smoke damage to the main part of the home.

Bigbee said, "The quick action of the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department kept the fire from spreading and destroying the main section of the house."

Using Four Levels . . .

At least several hundred people toured the old Milam Jail Sunday afternoon, seeing what the Milam Historical Commission must convert into useable museum space.

Vacant of furniture, fixtures, and people, the old jail resembles the Victorian bastille it actually is, walls three bricks or more thick inside, trails of steel steps climbing a labyrinth of iron rods and thick strips of alloy called cells.

It ascends to about a fourth level cupola, where legend says hangings in the 1890s might have occurred, but where history fails to find even one. The only hanging came when a prisoner was dragged from the old jail in the early 1900s and hung on a tree on the courthouse lawn.

History in all these rooms and cells and hallways awaits history in art, letters, and artifacts of Milamia, the residue of 140 years of Milam Land Institute of numerous counties and of Milam County of about 1,000 square miles as we now know it.

Plans call for renovation of three rooms of the former sheriff's living quarters, as funds allow. More than $4,000 has been contributed for this start.

Landscaping has already begun with removal of overgrowth of old shrubs and tall grasses, leaving the building's vertical elevation a natural attraction which needs all the imagination and innovation possible to use the four levels within the building.

It was a good start, the number who turned out to see the old place before it becomes a new place for imporant old stuff about a much more modern county.

For Each New 'Today' . . .

Your Herald of August 2 carried a "Welcome Newcomer" feature citing 22 individuals or individual families who moved into County-Seat Cameron during July.

This in itself is an impressive number, because it could represent as many as 75 people, not just 22.

Indeed, the impressive thing about this feature is the downtown pictoral layout made possible by so many people during the past five years of major, sometime traumatic demolition and reconstruction.

And indeed, those 22 names would be fewer if at all without the contributions of so many Cameronites toward that new downtown, ever expanding outward to new growth.

This community is crossing the threshhold of major development because of planning, execution, and attitude. The downtown dramatizes it. The numbers of people finding all of Cameron attractive is growing.

It has taken a long time. It will take additional effort, but the means, the physical attributes of a modern community are real. And the people moving here are just as real, just as modern and just as much in need of the services and goods a modern community provides.

Try to imagine what there would be with what was taken away before this new downtown. That alternative is frightening, but so many towns are living with it, in limbo or insecurity.

"Welcome Newcomer" seems to say the future is not such a bad place after all, that indeed the present was the only future with which this town could possibly have succeeded.

This downtown is our springboard to each new "today."

Early Texas Roads And Bridges Now Hazardous

AUSTIN — More than 29,000 miles of Texas roads and 2,564 bridges are hazardous because they were designed for traffic conditions of 40 years ago.

TRIP found 56,000 accidents were caused in Texas last year by road hazards. The accidents cost $173 million in hospital fees, property damage and payments to accident victims and survivors.

The Washington, D. C.-based research and information agency estimated nearly 17,000 miles of roads and streets are too narrow for safe passing by large trucks, school buses and other bulky vehicles at posted speeds. Another 12,606 miles contain sharp curves, soft shoulders, steep rises and dips, roadside obstructions, restricted sight distances and inadequate warning signs.

TRIP acknowledged that human error was a factor in almost all the 468,596 Texas highway accidents in 1975, but one accident in eight reportedly would not have occurred if road design and engineering had been adequate.

Texas Good Roads/Transportation Association also noted 20-year-old portions of the Interstate System are now obsolete and in need of modernization.

More Revenue

A Federal Power Commission increase in ceiling prices for interstate gas sales may mean millions of dollars in additional Texas state government income. However, the U. S. Court of Appeals has temporarily blocked the raise.

Comptroller Bob Bullock "guessed" the windfall may add $66 million to the surplus projected for the end of the current biennium Aug. 31, 1977, and another $165 million in additional revenue for 1978-79, if the FPC order is allowed to stand.

House Speaker Bill Clayton, while plugging for complete decontrol of natural gas prices, said the FPC decision could bring as much as $400 million new money into the treasury for appropriation by the legislature at its 1977 session.

New Industries

Seventeen new industries — ranging from cheesecakes to sewage treatment — will bring an extra $40.7 million to the Texas economy, Texas Industrial Commission reports.

The concerns which began operating during June will employ nearly 800 new workers, and the jobs will generate, in turn, another 700 additional job slots.

New industries are located in San Antonio, Dallas, Longview, Marble Falls, Stephenville, Marshall, Yoakum, Port Arthur, Wichita Falls and Austin.

Rates Rising

State Insurance Board actuaries laid out recommendations for an auto coverage increase of about 20 per cent.

Companies asked a 27.9 per cent boost. The board August 4 resumed the statewide car insurance hearing which recessed July 14.

Courts Speak

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld lower court rulings against a permanent injunction sought by State Rep. Luther Jones of El Paso to stop a Texas Legislative Council property tax revision study through an inter-agency contract signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The legislature appropriated $5 million last year for a study to determine the ability of a school district to support its public schools.

U. S. District Judge Jack Roberts turned down a Temple school district plan to alter bounderies of city schools.

AG Opinions

Any service-connected disability entitles a qualified veteran to an additional five point credit on a competitive Merit System or Civil Service exam, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

City ordinances may provide that public records, after microfilming, may be destroyed after five years.

A sheriff has no authority to bid property off to the state or judgment creditor taxing unit at tax foreclosure sales where local taxing units are the only judgment creditor and no bids are received. Taxing units are not liable for costs of foreclosure sales.

Mutscher Appointed

Former House Speaker Gus Mutscher was named to an $11,398 a year post of Washington County judge after being released from probation on his 1972 bribery conspiracy conviction.

Mutscher said he is not really returning to politics with acceptance of the position at his home town of Brenham.

Washington County Commissioners unanimously voted to name Mutscher to succeed the late Odis Tomaschefsky who died July 8.

District Judge J. Neal Daniel signed an order releasing Mutscher from the five year probated sentence he was assessed on charges of conspiring to accept bribes in the forms of loans from Frank Sharp of Houston in return for passage of 1969 banking bills.

Short Snorts

Hearing on Entex Inc.'s application for higher gas rates at Orange ended with the company offering to submit a new schedule that would produce $209,223 year in added revenue. The company originally sought more than twice that much.

Rains turned what was expected to be a banner grain crop into a disaster for South Texas farmers, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Mixed drink tax collections during the April-June quarter came to $10.8 million, according to Comptroller Bob Bullock.

The Governor's Committee on Aging approved three grants totalling $724,169 for nutrition programs for the elderly in Pharr, Texarkana and Linden.

Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations has drafted a bill to give county commissioners ordinance-making powers.

Herbs that are easy to grow on a kitchen window include dill, chives, garlic, parsley, shallots and watercress.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Some people are always criticizing our foreign policy but I've decided the only thing wrong with it is that it's not used at home too.

For instance, the United States has just loaned Egypt $31 million, payable in 40 years, to improve and modernize the port of Alexandria. The interest rate is 2 percent the first 10 years, and then it goes to 3 percent. This is known as financial wizardry, as I know of no other country on earth that can borrow money from its citizens at 7 and 8 percent and lend it to foreigners at 2 and 3 percent.

At the same time, the U.S. has given Eygpt $5 million free of charge to study what else needs improving over there.

This is exactly the kind of policy I've been looking for. You see, I've got this old barn out here that I estimate is in worse shape than the port of Alexandria. If ships have trouble docking over there, you ought to see the trouble a hay truck has getting in and out of my barn. If anything needs improving and modernizing, it does, and I'll attend to it if the government will let me in on some of that 2 percent money. I'd like about $100,000. What I'll do is use $5,000 or so to fix up the barn and put the rest out at 7 1/2 percent interest. In 40 years I'll bet I will have come coser to paying my loan off than Eygpt.

Now as for the other part of the foreign policy, the 5 million we're giving Egypt to see what else needs improving over there, I'd been looking at things around this farm for years that need improving, and if the government will pay me I'll write them down and send the list to Washington. I think $25,000 will cover the cost.

While it's true I don't have any old pyramids that need fixing up or any tents that need patching or any camels that need replacing, I know that from a long-range economic view over the next 40 years, I'm bound to have some cows that'll need replacing, and I know from years of experience that a fence can lean over just so far before it falls down completely. I don't know about Egyptian cows, but it doesn't take my cows long to find out they can step over a fence that's on the ground.

Also, if given this money I'll guarantee I won't export any arms to my neighbors or declare war on any nation or get any madder at the U.S. than the ordinary foreign country does when its loan comes due.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

TEXAS JOB TALK

The state jobless picture remains relatively stable, according to Texas Employment Commission Chairman Harold K. Dudley who said that preliminary estimates show an unemployment rate of 5.3 per cent for May.

"We have anticipated for some time that the unemployment rate would decline slowly if at all when it neared the 5 per cent mark," Dudley said. "Only a hyperheated economy would be likely to drive it much lower. I don't expect it to reach, in the near future, the 3 or 4 per cent level of prerecession days."

Revised figures showed Texas' unemployment rate for April as 5.3 per cent, the same as the May estimate. (An earlier forecast for April was 4.8 per cent, but a change in methods of computation by the Bureau of Labor Statistics placed the official state rate at 5.3 per cent.)

Preliminary estimates, subject to later revision, show 288,600 Texans unemployed in May, with a state work force numbering 5,106,000, Dudley said. Employment was up in retail trade and in the service industries, particularly in hotels, motels, and amusement parks, with a decline occuring in school-connected employment and in transportation services.

"Texas continues to fare better than the nation as a whole," Dudley noted. "The national unadjusted jobless rate for May is 6.7 per cent, a full 1.4 per cent above the Texas rate."

Fall Garden Provides Better Vegetables

By Bill McCutchen

A fall garden can provide vegetables that are less costly, fresher, and often more nutritious than those you can buy.

Many vegetables that do not grow satisfactorily during the late spring and summer are better adapted for fall and early winter production. By starting with transplants now, you should have good success with tomatoes, eggplants, peppers, and broccoli.

If you still have live tomato plants left from spring that show signs of growth, rejuvenate these rather than starting from transplants. Cut off old stems above the new growth. Keep the plants watered and fertilize them with about one tablespoon of balanced fertilizer per plant once a week for three or four weeks.

August and early September is the time to make the last planting of summer squash and cucumbers.

Green beans planted during August or early September usually produce the best quality for freezing and canning, since the harvest occurs during cooler weather when the fiber content is low.

I particularly like to grow Irish potatoes in the fall, although I admit that it is a challenge. It is tough to get potatoes to sprout when planted in early August instead of rot in the hot soils.

To lessen the possibilities of this I like to pre-irrigate and plant a day or so later. I use small potatoes held over from the spring harvest as cut potatoes are much more prone to rot from my experience.

Getting potatoes up is most of the challenge. After they come up about the only problems I have had are cabbage loopers.

I usually leave these potatoes in the soil after frost and harvest then as I need them. By adding a few inches of soil on top of the row they will keep well and will not freeze.

Texas Screwworm Count Swells

Lab identification of Robertson County's first 1976 screwworm case today helped swell the year's Texas count to 6,398, says a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) veterinarian.

Dr. M. E. (Cotton) Meadows Jr., director of the Screwworm Eradication Program, reports these cases were tallied from 135 counties. The Program is operated for USDA by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS).

John C. Hicks collected the newly identified maggots from the navel of one of his calves five miles north of Franklin. He treated the infestation July 24.

Screwworms are larvae (maggots) of the screwworm fly. Adult females of this species deposit eggs on wounds in warm blooded animals. As eggs hatch the tiny worms enter the wound to feed on live flesh, growing to about half an inch in length within a week.

The APHIS program uses the sterile male principle in fighting this pest. Female screwworm flies mate only once in their lifetimes.

The year's first case in Limestone County was recorded July 1, Brazos County July 14.

Sample kits are available from County Agents, veterinarians, and livestock inspectors.

Glasses or babies' bottles that have held milk should first be rinsed in cold water before washing. Hot water will cause milk to stick to the glass.

Texas Producers To See Change In Seed Labels

Texas producers shopping for certified planting seed for the 1977 season will see a change in the certification label accompanying each bag of seed. Starting next year, seed will be certified for genetic identity only.

Although the new certification label assures that the seed is the variety stated on the label, the big change is the fact that it does not relate to any seed quality factors such as purity, inert matter, other crop seed, weed seed, noxious weed seed, and germination. The Texas seed law, however, still requires that this information be truthfully stated on the analysis label accompanying the seed.

"The change in seed certification which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1977, means that producers will have to pay particular attention to the labels on the seed bag," emphasizes Dr. Robert B. Metzer, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "The certification label will tell them what variety the seed is, and the analysis label will provide information on quality factors."

Both labels tell the complete story about the seed, but keep in mind that quality factors can vary even though the seed is certified, notes Metzer.

Certification for genetic identity means that seed has been produced and processed under standards and procedures established by the Texas Seed and Plant Board and enforced by the Texas Department of Agriculture

The Texas A&M University System specialist lists a number of reasons for the change in seed certification standards:

--To assure a more dependable supply of seed officially certified as to genetic identity.

--To establish uniformity with the Federal Seed Act.

--To encourage international seed trade.

--To allow production of certified seed having quality characteristics for different market seeds.

"The change gives seedmen more flexibility in producing seed for different markets," notes Metzer, "and at the same time promotes a plentiful supply of high quality seed.

"Quality is by no means being sacrificed by this change," he emphasizes. "Quality standards will be as important as ever. The main thing the seed certification change does is place greater responsibility on the producer to select the proper seed for his particular needs."

in purchasing seed, but the new standards will place even greater responsibility on the producer to carefully read both labels to determine if the seed meets his quality requirements," points out Metzer.

Proof Positive . . . Exactly The Same . . . Getting Closer.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service has figures to prove what every lamb producer has known all along: the lamb crop and wool production continues to decline.

The Texas lamb crop for 1976 is estimated at 1.4 million head. This is 18 per cent below a year ago. The Jan. 1 number of breeding ewes in the state is reported to be one per cent below the previous year.

Lambing percentage is also below year ago levels. The lambing percentage for this year is set at 74 per cent; last year it was 88 per cent.

Wool production in the state for this season is estimated at 20,100,000 pounds, grease basis. This is down 15 per cent from a year ago.

Nationwide, the same trends are apparent. The lamb crop is 10 per cent below a year ago. Wool production is estimated at 108.4 million pounds, grease basis; this is 10 per cent below the 1975 production.

CATTLE FEEDERS IN THE STATE had the same number of cattle and calves on feed on July 1 as on June 1. The total is 1,570,000; this is 24 per cent higher than a year ago.

Cattle and calves placed in Texas feedlots during the April to June 30 quarter were six per cent above the same time period a year ago.

Feedlot operators report intentions to market 950,000 fed cattle now through September. This would be an increase of 29 per cent from marketings during the same period in 1975.

Nationwide, cattle and calves on feed are up 18 per cent from a year ago, but are down two per cent from June 1.

AUG. 16 IS NOT FAR AWAY, and that date is the deadline for the Texas Family Land Heritage Program this year. The Program honors those families in the state who have continuously owned and operated the same farm or ranch through their descendants for 100 years or more.

This is the third year of the Program. Thus far, about 950 Texas families have been recognized in achieving this record.

WHILE HARVEST of one of Texas' major crops -- wheat -- is complete, farmers are busy harvesting cotton and grain sorghum as well as rice and some corn.

Rainfall in the Coastal Bend area and southern sections has severely damaged what would have been an excellent grain sorghum crop.

SCREWWORM OFFICIALS AT MISSION are again urging livestock producers to treat wounds on livestock with approved screwworm control remedies as well as delaying surgery on livestock.

Five states are now threatened with outbreaks of the pest. Officials also ask that livestock producers continue to submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab at Mission.

GALVESTON — In his latest report, Captain W. H. Kingsbury says the cattle drive totals 335,000 head. This figure does not include "many small herds that I know nothing of." About one fourth will stop in Northern Texas, some for shipment, but a larger portion to stock new ranches. The other three fourths will be divided up among Wichita, Dodge City, Hays City, and the Platte River.

News From TJC

More than 200 persons have already preregistered for fall semester evening classes at Temple Junior College. All students who preregister for night classes on or before Aug. 11 are eligible to complete registration for the fall semester by mail. After preregistration, a student will be mailed a copy of his class schedule with the total tuition and fees due. The student must send payment to the Admissions and Records office at TJC so that it arrives no later than Thursday, Aug. 19.

Any student who repregisters after Aug. 11 will be required to register on Thurs., Aug. 26 between 5:30 and 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building.

Students who were enrolled at TJC during the spring semester or summer sessions of 1976 do not need to reapply for admission. New and transfer students must submit an application for admission, immunization certificate, and official transcripts from all previous colleges and high school attended.

Real estate classes have been added to the credit class schedule for the fall semester evening classes. These courses were previously offered by the continuing education division of the college. Information about other classes offered and admissions may be obtained by phoning 773-9961, ext. 40. Fall semester classes will begin on Aug. 30.

Safety Goggles May Save Eyesight

What's midsummer madness? To the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness, it's mowing or edging the lawn all through the long, hot Texas summer without ever wearing safety goggles or glasses.

"The power tools of industry have jumped the fence and gone into the home," says Dr. Fay E. Millett, state medical chairman of the society, "and unfortunately without the eye safety precautions that the law requires for industry."

Safety goggles daily save the eyesight of industrial workers, he says, citing a recent accident at a Brown and Root Engineering plant in Houston that was caused by the familiar home-style lawn mower.

Donald Ray Speights was mowing at the plant when the mower blade hit a metal object and threw a piece of metal against the left lens of his safety glasses.

"Without the glasses, Speights might be blinded in one eye today," says Dr. Millett. "Another mower not so long ago threw up a seemingly fragile pine needle into the eye of Gary Burgoff, the well known Radar O'Reilly of "Mash," and did so with such force that the cornea of his eye was damaged."

The Texas Society recommends that all safety eye wear purchased meet government safety standards. These need not be expensive or special order items as they can usually be purchased at hardware counters.

Vets May Get Benefit Information From VA

Veterans or their dependents seeking information on benefits were reminded today that the Veterans Administration maintains 960 toll free telephone lines across the country for that purpose.

Regional Director Jack Coker said the toll-free question-answering service is available to all veterans living in Texas.

The number to call in Temple is 773-0105.

Other locations should dial 1-800-792-1110.

EASY TO READ DATES ON SAFEWAY BRAND FOODS HELP ASSURE FRESHNESS FOR YOU!

Perishable foods (such as meats, eggs, dairy and bakery foods) sell so fast at Safeway they are on and off our shelves in a matter of hours. But we take no chances with freshness. Perishables which Safeway manufactures or processes carry dates to guide our store people. Here's how the date looks on a package of Safeway Brand cheese:

When the numbers "1-15" appeared on a cheese wrapper, our employees knew the package was not to be sold after January 15,. Being positive no package remains on our shelves after the printed date assures you that Safeway foods you buy will remain fresh and good for many more days with proper home refrigeration.

A date like this is printed on the end of each carton. When the numbers "1-15" appeared, our employees knew the carton was not to be sold after January 15. Being positive no cartons remain on our shelves after the printed date ensures that all Safeway eggs you buy will remain fresh and good for many more days with proper home refrigeration.

Cotton Seal Influences Public Attitude

After two full years of use, the new cotton seal of U.S. cotton growers is recognized by almost one-fourth of all adult Americans.

The impact on the consumer marketplace of the cotton seal, which was introduced by Cotton Incorporated in 1973, has been measured in a number of studies by various consumer research firms.

Cotton Incorporated is the fiber company of U.S. cotton producers, with marketing headquarters here, a research center in Raleigh, N.C. and sales offices in Dallas and Los Angeles.

One series of studies for Cotton Incorporated was conducted by the Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J. The first test, conducted in late 1973, served as a benchmark by which tests in 1974 and 1975 measured increasing public awareness of the cotton seal.

The independent studies also show that the cotton seal influences public attitudes about cotton products.

Church To Provide Radio Broadcast

The First Christian Church in Cameron is providing a live radio broadcast each Sunday morning fro 10:30 to 11 a.m. over KMIL.

Although the church has sponsored other radio programs in the past, this is the first time the broadcasts have been made while the church services were actually in progress.

The series of broadcasts began as part of the outreach effort of the church and reflects a concern to reach and include in church services persons who are shut-ins and not able to attend services.

The minister, L. C. Reece, is in the process of organizing a choir of children, teenagers, and adults who will sing special songs during the broadcasts. Sunday, Aug. 8 will mark the first appearance of this choir.

Church Sets Homecoming

The First Assembly of God at 1511 N. Houston will sponsor a homecoming service Sunday, August 8, with Odell Roberts as guest speaker and Everett Pafford as guest soloist.

The Sunday school goal for the service is 130 and will be a record attendance if achieved. Sunday school will begin at 9:45 and morning worship will be held at 10:50. A spread luncheon will be held at the community center following the morning worship. At 6 p.m., the evening service will begin.

Many out-of-town guests and former members are expected to attend the homecoming service.

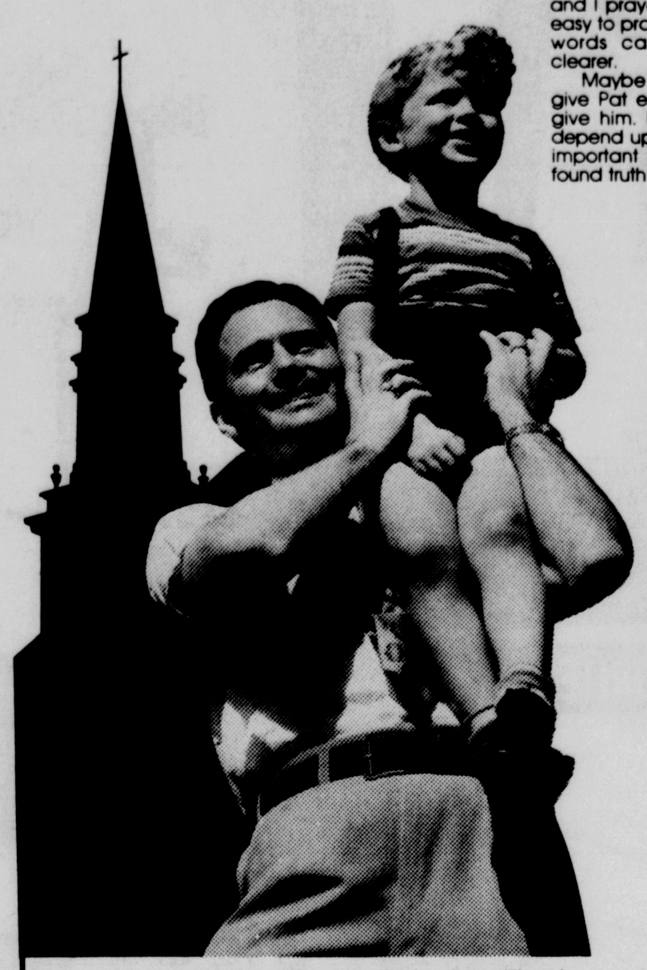
All The Way



When Pat was younger, he used to think I was a superman. He's older now, and he knows that I'm not. But he still has that special kind of confidence kids have in their parents . . . and more than anything else, I want to merit that trust.

There was a time when I seldom went to church. Then, one day I realized that if I were going to be the kind of father Pat needed, I had to have help — God's help. I went to church, and I prayed. At first, it wasn't easy to pray. But gradually the words came stronger and clearer.

Maybe I'll never be able to give Pat everything I'd like to give him. But he can always depend upon me for the most important thing of all: truth. I found truth in the Church.

VIP Preview Party Set

Jack Anderson, of A&S Marine Sales in Seabrook, in charge of food and entertainment for the Houston International In-The-Water Boat Show at Clear Lake announced today that on Wednesday, Sept. 22 from 4-8 p.m. there will be a very special VIP preview party held at the 1976 show site, Seabrook Shipyard.

Anderson went on to say that this party, a boat show first, will be open to the public. The preview party will give people the opportunity to view the show leisurely while avoiding the large crowds anticipated during the regular show days. According to Anderson, the party will feature fresh Gulf seafood and other delicacies. The price for tickets is $20 per person for all you can eat and drink. Show management has requested reservations and they can be made by writing to Houston-In-The-Water Boat Show, 3910 Kirby, Suite 215, Houston, TX 77098 or by calling 713-526-6361.

Seabrook Shipyard, location of the show and party, is conveniently located just 30 minutes from Houston or Galveston on Highway 146 in Seabrook. From north or south take I-45 (Gulf Freeway) to the NASA Road 1 exit. East on NASA Road 1 approximately 8 miles to Highway 146. Turn left for VIP Preview Party parking.

The Houston International In-The-Water Boat Show at Clear Lake is sponsored by The Boating Trade Association of Metropolitan Houston, and produced by The Houston International Boat, Sport, & Travel Show.

'Sensous Driving' Uses Five Senses For Safety

Americans drove a total of 1.3 trillion miles in 1975 and will pass that figure this Bicentennial year.

With well over 107 million cars and 26 million trucks and buses in a population of some 215,600,000, the United States is the most motorized nation on earth, the National Geographic Society says.

But though Americans drive more miles with fewer accidents than most people, the American Automobile Association reports that 45,600 persons were killed and more than 1,800,000 injured in traffic accidents last year.

Cars Better than Drivers

Lower speed limits, improved highway systems, greater use of seat belts, and more safety features designed into new cars are credited by authorities for a recent downward trend in auto fatalities.

Today's automobiles and roads may be better than the motorists who use them, even though driver education is good in this country and keeps getting better.

Automotive manufacturers believe that their customers rarely use--or learn how to use--more than a small percentage of the performance built into their cars.

Some experts contend highways would be safer if motorists adopted a few of the techniques of race drivers. They refer to alertness and car handling, not speed.

One proponent of this view is Janet Guthrie, who last May might have become the first woman to qualify for the Indianapolis 500 if mechanical problems had not sidelined her car.

She advocates what she calls "sensuous driving," or finely tuning all five senses when behind the wheel of a car.

Miss Guthrie recommends, for example, extending sight to include observing what is developing five cars ahead, knowing where all the cars around you are, and watching in your peripheral vision anything happening on sidewalks or in and between cars parked or stopped at the curb.

"Listen" to Car

Simiarly, a motorist should listen to his or her car while driving, not only for warnings of possible breakdowns but for changes in the sound of the tires on the road that indicate a difference in the road surface, such as wet spots or loose gravel.

Touch is important in alerting the driver to changing road conditions. And the driver's "feel" for the car often provides the first clue on when to slow down.

Smell also plays its part in signaling overheating or other problems under the hood or behind the dashboard. As for taste, Miss Guthrie points out that sometimes it's possible to "smell and almost taste the rain, or a storm coming," and a prudent driver can begin watching for a good motel.

Miss Guthrie advises people to take their cars out once or twice to "a big, wet, empty parking lot" and try a few skids to learn when the car will skid, what it feels like, and how to steer out of a skid.

She says many drivers just brake and slide into accidents they could have steered around because they don't appreciate how maneuverable the average automobile is.

NEWS OF DRINKS

Visitors to Blarney Castle in County Cork, Ireland, can climb the castle's heights to kiss the Blarney stone and receive the gift of a cajoling tongue.

About 35 miles away in Middleton, County Cork, Ireland, that height of good taste—the world's first light Irish blend whiskey—is distilled.

This whiskey is only 80 proof and can be enjoyed neat or mixed with anything from coffee liqueur to tomato juice, just as other whiskeys. It gets its name, Dunphy's, from one of Dublin's more popular bars and its label is in the tricolors of the Irish flag: white, gold (sometimes thought of as orange) and green.

IT'S A FACT!

The most expensive school in the world appears to be the Oxford Academy in New Jersey. A private prep school for boys, it has 47 pupils who are taught individually by 15 instructors at an annual tuition of $8,400.

A "school" that pays its pupils while it prepares them is the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve which offers opportunities to learn a specialty while earning up to $2,700 annually for one weekend a month and two weeks a year of training.
